

Jodi Spady, Physician Associate – Certified, assumed her position with the Chase County Clinic in November 1st, 2006. She is a native of Hyannis, NE and was a Certified Athletic Trainer and Teacher before embarking on her current career path.

Jodi acquired her Masters of Science Degree in Education from Wayne State College and subsequently taught there and Dakota Wesleyan University following that. She then obtained her Bachelor of Science Degree in Physician Associate studies from the University of South Dakota School of Medicine-Vermillion, SD in May 2005. She received her “Certified” designation in August 2005 which means she has graduated from the accredited program and has successfully completed testing by the National Commission on Certification of Physician Associates.

She worked as a PA-C with Dr. Paul Grow at Frenchman Valley Family Practice here in Imperial from September 2005 through October 2006 and has continued to care for many of those patients since he left.

Jodi’s top priority is listening to and understanding her patients and believes this is the only way to truly help them.

She has been married to Trent for 15 years and they have three children; Cydney, 23, Miranda 14, Damon 12. When not practicing medicine, she enjoys camping, hunting, fishing, horses and spending time with her family.
