Her “Care Philosophy” is that she believes in a patient-centered approach that values the unique needs and perspectives of individuals. Every patient deserves the utmost care and attention. She prioritizes preventive measures and working with patients to develop strategies to promote overall wellness.

She strives to actively involve each person in their healthcare decisions and tailor treatment plans to align with each person’s goals and values. In a rural community such as this one, her aim is to establish strong patient-provider relationships built on trust, respect, and communication. Being in rural Nebraska, she is committed to fostering a welcoming and accessible environment.

Kerri grew up in Broken Bow, Nebraska where her family raised cattle and horses. She spent a lot of her time outdoors, riding horses, and being around her family. She met her college sweetheart, Calder Forcella, at Chadron and they have been married since June 12th, 2021. Calder is currently a High School Social Studies Teacher at Chase County Public Schools where he also enjoys coaching football & track.

She and Calder have horses and cattle along with a Labrador named Ollie, whom they adore. Kerri spends much of her time outside riding horses. She continues to compete in rodeo breakaway roping and barrel racing. She also enjoys hiking, traveling, hunting, fishing and golfing in her free time.

Kerri and Calder are so excited to have moved here and can’t wait to explore all that Imperial has to offer and to meet the wonderful people who call Imperial home.
